NO EXCUSE FOR N. D. TAX BOOST ASSERTS FARMER

Commissioner Stair Tells What He Has to Pay on Bottineau Land

Commissioner E. B. Stair, who has relatives who have obtained places of political preferment from the Nonpartisan league, gave an interview to the Pioneer-Gazette in Wibaux, Mont. in which he told how his taxes had risen in North Dakota, and advised Montana farmers not to vote for the Nonpartisan league. The article follows:

Relieved La Grippe Coughs
Lewis Newman, 5054 Northland St., Charleston, W. Va.: "I am glad to tell you this Foley's Honey and Tar is the best remedy for colds, coughs, croup, whooping cough, and all other troubles I have ever used. I have been using it ever since January and nothing would do me any good. I was full of colds and had a great deal of trouble until I got two bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar. I used the bottle I am glad to say I can feel my nose and throat clear." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt relief from coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling throat, whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchial coughs.

land is situated near the Mouse River and is considered among the prime farming lands of the state. Fifteen years ago it was taxed at $15.00 per quarter.

"I said, 'Mr. Stair, what was the last tax statement that you received?' 'Why,' he said, 'The last statement I received was a few days ago, which placed my taxes at $20.00, more than double what I paid at any previous year on this same tract of land.'"

"Mr. Stair," I said, "This enormous raise of taxes was not solely all made in one year?"

Mr. Stair replied, "Yes, nearly all within one year. The tax on these two quarter sections were $15.00 in 1918, and $60.00 per quarter in 1919. This year as I said before, it is $204.36 on the two quarters."

Mr. Stair continuing, said, "I wrote to some of my relatives in that vicinity and asked them if there was some mistake made in my tax statement, and they replied in a letter which I received a few days ago, that I might consider myself lucky to get off as easy as I did."

I said, "Mr. Stair, is this raise in taxation due to the raise in the valuation of this land?"

And he replied, "Why, I should think not. Two years ago, I was offered $4000.00 per quarter for this land, and I would not take it. Just think of $8000.00 for the two quarters!"

"That same year one of my relations sold a quarter for $3200.00. But remember that at the present time I would sell any quarter for $2500 and would be tickled to death if I could get it. Let anyone offer me $5000.00 for the two quarters and I wouldn't be long in accepting it."

I said, "Mr. Stair, how do you explain this tremendous doubling of your taxes with a decrease in valuation?" Do you think that the cost of administration has jumped as much, that the state must have this revenue to get by with?"

Mr. Stair replied, "I don't think that the cost of administration should be any more than a year ago, or two years ago. I think that some body is getting away with something."

WELLESLEY GIRL LANDS HIGH ON STAGE LADDER. FIRST LEAP

Lucille Poth

NEW YORK—Neither a "highbrow" college education nor a home in New York harbor is a handicap to a stage career, if the experience of Miss Lucille Poth is good evidence. Miss Poth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Poth of Rossville, Staten Island, is a Wellesley graduate. Her parents' town house is at 3682 Broadway. At college she took part in dramatics—her only stage experience. She overcame parental objections and landed with "Turn to the Right" in Boston recently. Now she's a favorite.

STATE WELFARE BEFORE PARTY, MYERS ASSERTS

dent Wilson Dunn's crowd outnumbered the Nonpartisans and I understand he picked the ticket. If such is the case, can you say it is not tainted with bolshevism?"

"I don't have a high regard about bolshevism, as the chairman of the Wheeler meeting suggested that a day dream of Townley and Dunn controlling the destinies of Montana."

Desert Party Laze!
"There is no cause as I see it for the farmers or laborers to follow an outsider like A. C. Townley, convicted of disloyalty to our government," he continued passionately. "Townley and Dunn have captured the Democratic party label and would exploit and control the state. No honest Democrat should swallow such a combination."

He said the state administration had been liberal to farmers and to organized and unorganized labor and he believed that the farmers and labor in the United States have been as prosperous as any other class. At present, the highest in Montana of any state in the union.

"It is true that for years, he continued, our farmers in Montana have been afflicted grievously by drought. We are still some relief for them. I would like to see a proposition of $500,000 to buy seed in the drought regions and Montana got the seed secured the presence of a bill sixteen months leave of absence from the home-made in addition to the five months allowed by the law and that to count on that point if the drought were continuous. Our entire congressional delegation here is everything we could for the farmer and labor. There are few who have voted more measures for the farmer than I."

"I don't believe Townley or Dunn could induce the heavens to give forth the life preserving rain. This is an act of God, not an act of man."

Why Follow Townley?
"Why follow Townley who is a Socialist in North Dakota, a radical in Minnesota where he now is, and attempts to dictate to the Democrats in Montana. I don't believe a man can be a loyal Democrat and stand for it. Not I."

He called attention to the fact that for years the legislature contained a majority of farmers, who her the assembly was Republican or Democratic. They had the legislation in their own hands and could have relieved themselves of whatever wrongs they believed they suffered.

"I only object to them when they agree in advance to accept the dictum of Townley," he declared.

Senator Myers then told of his experience in Europe, which he described as being under great strain and anxiety over bolshevism. When he was there it appeared as if the Russians would capture Poland, then invade Germany which had millions of men ready to embrace the soviet form of government and repudiate the peace treaty and all debts. Then it seemed as if France and England would be invaded by the poison for finally for the present Poland had stopped the red horde.

In 1918, he said, the front of the reds had spread to an appalling extent.

For Good Government
I don't believe that the Townley-Dunn game would do a thing to stop it," he said. "They would only stop the spreading of the insidious poison."

11 HUNGER STRIKERS INCLUDE AMONG THEIR NUMBER TWO IRISH BROTHERS

Many Charges Placed Against Men Who Join in Fight for Irish Freedom.

Cork, Oct. 13.—Among the 11 hunger strikers in jail here are two brothers, John and Peter Crowley of Ballylanders, Kimerick, while another brother is hunger-striking in Winchester jail, England. Their father aged 55 has just been arrested also and brought to Cork. Their house was also burned recently after a raid had been made upon it.

This family rents automobiles which the military officials assert were used for Sinn Féin activities. Up till the present one of their automobiles is missing and the father was informed that unless he revealed its whereabouts he would be arrested.

"If I knew I would not tell you," he is reported to have replied. Consequently he was arrested.

Two other prisoners from Ballylanders, Michael O'Reilly and Christopher Upton were arrested on July 16 when shots were exchanged between the police and volunteers.

Sean Hennessy, one of the hunger strikers who is stated to be suffering severely, was attending an Irish college at Ballygeary a month ago when a motor lorry was held up there and burned after its soldier occupants had been disarmed.

Michael Burke, of Folkstown Thurles, was arrested in connection with a raid there told Deputy Mayor O'Callahan that he suffered severely from lacerations which he attributed to a beating by an officer with his fists and a rifle after his arrest.

When Bismarck First Heard of Matches

In the early thirties of the nineteenth century, a lady of Bismarck wrote to her cousin in New York:

"When I was in Richmond last winter I was told of a curious new device for making fire. It consisted of small splinters of wood with tips of some substance that burst into flame when rubbed on a rough surface. If you can procure some of them for me, I shall be grateful."

It was many years after matches were generally made in Europe before they were seen throughout America. There was no means for spreading rapidly such wonderful news.

Today the new invention that contributes largely to comfort or convenience is quickly known in every section of the land. Advertisements bring the story.

Read the advertisements in your newspaper. They are the heralds of progress, the great news-spreading force of modern industry. They contain real news for you. They save you time and lessen your work and enable you to obtain better value for the money you spend.

Time spent in reading advertisements is well spent. Read the advertisements, for they contain the news you REALLY need.

Vote Right on the Initiated Laws

On November 2nd it will be the duty of the voters (men and women) of North Dakota to vote "Yes" or "No" on three constitutional amendments, five initiated laws and one referred law. The five initiated laws and the one referred law will be on a ballot by themselves, and the constitutional amendments on another. It is proper that the voters should have all possible information and get at the truth with reference to each of these laws, so that they may vote intelligently and for the best interests of the state and its people. Therefore, the following statement of argument and fact as to each of the five initiated laws is respectfully submitted for your consideration.

Examination of State Industries.

This law amends Section 209 of the compiled laws of 1913 so as to read as follows:

Section 209. There is hereby created a board of auditors for the state of North Dakota which shall consist of the secretary of state, the state auditor and the attorney general. These three shall be the ex-officio members of the board. The board shall have the duty to examine and audit the accounts, books and vouchers of the state treasurer, and of the bank of North Dakota and of all other industrial institutions of the state, and to take an account and ascertain the assets and liabilities of the bank of North Dakota and of all other industrial institutions of the state, at least twice in each year without previous notice to the treasurer, or to the officials of said state institutions, and make report thereof, and of their acts and doings in the premises, to the governor and make the same public, and also to witness and attest the transfer and delivery of accounts, books, vouchers and funds by any outgoing treasurer, or bank manager, or manager of any industrial institution, to his successor in office, and report the same to the governor, and the failure or neglect of the treasurer, or bank manager, or manager of any industrial institution, to do any of the acts at the time, or times, and in the manner in this section provided for, shall constitute and be misdemeanor in office. The board is authorized and empowered to employ such expert accountants as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

Every person that believes in government by the people agrees of course that we can not have an intelligent government unless the people may have access to all the facts that pertain to the affairs of government. Also, that all examinations made for the purpose of getting at facts should be made by those persons that those having charge of the department, institution or industry to be examined.

It is argued by some people that this law is not needed because the law under which the Bank of North Dakota was established provides for an examination of the bank. That law it is true provides for a cursory examination of the bank, but no examination is provided for other industries such as the Home Builders Association, Mill and Elevator Association, Workmen's Compensation Bureau, etc.

The government controls the bank and he appoints the bank examiners who are therefore under obligation to the governor for his job. This law provides for a thorough examination of all industrial institutions by three officials who are elected by the people and therefore responsible to the people for their acts. Vote like this on this law and you will vote right:

Shall said initiated measure be approved?
YES ☒ NO ☐

Public Funds.

This law amends Section 7 of Chapter 147 of the laws of the state of North Dakota for the year of 1919 to read as follows:

Section 7. All state funds, and funds of all state penal, educational and industrial institutions, shall be deposited in the bank of North Dakota.

It is claimed by some people that the purpose of this law is to kill the Bank of North Dakota by arbitrarily taking away the funds with which it does business. This is not so. Read the law printed above. The Bank of North Dakota will have millions to do business with. In addition to having the funds of the state treasury and all educational and industrial institutions, it will also have the proceeds of the ten million real estate bonds now authorized by law.

This law makes it possible for all local boards to keep their money wherever they can get the most satisfactory service and results according to their own judgment and experience. They may put their money in the Bank of North Dakota, or they may put it elsewhere. Whichever they put it, they are subject to the same requirements as to giving bonds and making proper accounting. The approval of this law will not deprive the Bank of North Dakota of the right to receive deposits from individuals, organizations or corporations. It will have all such money in addition to the state funds for which it will be the depository.

Those who argue against this law know that their argument is not sound. They are trying to get votes by claiming that the law provides something that it does not provide. The purpose is to make it possible for the members of the industrial commission and the officers of the Bank of North Dakota to use money belonging to local boards as a club with which to keep bankers and others working for the maintenance of a political machine with which to furnish jobs for hordes of political parasites at public expense. Vote "yes" on this law and you will vote for government for the people, by the people.

Shall said initiated measure be approved?
YES ☒ NO ☐

Real Estate Loans.

This law reads as follows:

Section 1. The Bank of North Dakota shall make real estate loans only to actual farmers who are residents of this state.

All money in the hands of the Bank of North Dakota that can be loaned out on real estate mortgages should be loaned to farmers who live in the state and not to people who live in other states, which the officers of the Bank of North Dakota can do now and have done. Farming is the chief industry of the state of North Dakota. Why should we not, therefore, have a law that would prohibit the officers of the Bank of North Dakota, regardless of who they are now or who they may be in the future, from loaning North Dakota money to people who are not residents of North Dakota.

The repeal clause applies only to loans made on real estate mortgages. If this law is approved, it does not prevent the Bank of North Dakota from making loans on other security to any and all state institutions and industries just as the Bank of North Dakota is now authorized to do. Vote in favor of saving North Dakota's money for North Dakota people. Vote thus:

Shall this initiated measure be approved?
YES ☒ NO ☐

While you are considering which way to vote on these laws bear in mind the fact that those who are arguing against their approval are not publishing the laws along with their arguments. They try to make the people believe that the laws provide for things which they do not provide for—that these laws mean something entirely different than they do. Read the laws for yourself and become convinced by your own efforts and by means of your own eyes that the representations made in behalf of these laws are absolutely true to the facts and that the arguments are sound and undisputable. Get a copy of the sample ballot containing an exhaustive argument on these laws. Consider the laws and the arguments calmly and coolly, irrespective of the excitement that always comes with political contests. Strive to determine which is right and which is wrong and then vote your convictions honestly and unselfishly.

Legal Publications.

This law amends Section 5, Chapter 187, of the laws of the state of North Dakota for the year 1919 to read as follows:

Section 5. (DEFINING DUTIES OF SUCH OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER.) Such official newspaper as shall be chosen by the voters in said county as the state, county and municipal official newspaper therein, shall publish all proceedings of the board of county commissioners in said county and all other notices and publications that are now required by law to be published by county officers, all public notices of every nature now are, or may hereafter be, required to be published by state officers, elective or appointive. Provided, however, that in organized cities, towns and villages where no official newspaper is published, said city, town or village board of commissioners may designate an official newspaper for the publication of such notices and legal publications as are now or hereafter may be required by law for said cities, towns and villages, including legal notices and official statements of the schools within such cities, towns and villages, but in cities, towns or villages where the state, county and municipal official newspaper is published such official notices and legal publications as are now or hereafter may be required by law to be published, shall be published in such official newspaper.

The local newspaper is a splendid medium of education on practical subjects. It is a means by which communities keep together and grow together. Our state and nation is composed of communities. Our social, political and economic life has its beginning in communities. Our government is efficient in proportion to the average intelligence of the citizens of all of the communities. Because of this everything possible should be done to help every country town to have one or more newspapers by means of which there may be a free exchange of opinions on all subjects at all times. North Dakota's intelligence has been higher than most of the newer states of the Union since it has had an abundance of five county newspapers. This has been possible because of laws that permitted public officials and individuals to distribute legal notices among the various publications in such a way that the income from that business together with the other income from subscriptions and advertising has been large enough to furnish a living for the publisher and his family. In 1918 the legislature passed laws that gave one paper in each county a monopoly on all public and private legal notices, thus making it possible for one paper to live in luxury, while others had to be suspended.

This law will make it possible for individual persons, firms or corporations to have such private legal notices, as they are required to publish from time to time, printed in a newspaper in their own community instead of in a paper published many miles away. All state and county legal notices will still continue to be published in the official papers after this law is approved. This law does not change the present provision for the election of an official newspaper. There is no ground for the argument that if this law is approved that owners of mortgages may foreclose without giving proper notice. Because of another law which is not affected by this law requires that notice of intention to foreclose on a real estate mortgage must be given, by registered mail, to the mortgagor thirty days before the time of foreclosure. Support the thirty papers of your own community by voting "yes" on this law.

Superintendent of Public Instruction.

This law amends and re-enacts Section 1109 of the compiled laws of 1913 to read as follows:

Section 1109. (PRESCRIBE COURSE OF STUDY.) He shall have charge and supervision of the certification of teachers, standardization of schools and uniformity of text books, examinations for eighth grade and high school graduation, and preparation of courses of study for the several classes of public schools.

Cartons of public records have been taken out of the superintendent of public instruction's office. The certification of teacher's work that used to be performed under the supervision of and in the office of superintendent of public instruction is now being done independent of that office in a spare room in the Bank of North Dakota. Teacher's certificates are signed with a rubber stamp signature of one Mr. E. P. Crain, who is clerk of the motor vehicle register office, and under the supervision of N. C. Macdonald part of the time and Mrs. Macdonald part of the time. This law proposes to separate the educational work, including supervision of the certification of teachers, standardization of schools and uniformity of text books from the management of state penitentiary and the asylums for the blind, deaf, dumb and insane, and all purely commercial affairs of the state. Supervision of the standardization of the schools does not mean that the superintendent of public instruction lets contracts for school houses or buys fuel or hires teachers neither does the supervision of uniformity of text books mean selection or purchase of text books and other supplies. It simply means that the superintendent of public instruction shall furnish to all school officers information regarding text books, and in what units, school, district, or township uniformity is recommended by the educators in charge.

This the department of public instruction has always done. It is safe to say that the legislature would not have been asked to legislate in the work of tearing to pieces the duties and powers of that office if N. C. Macdonald had been re-elected for superintendent of public instruction. The removal of John A. Hagan, commissioner of agriculture and education, who is in the line of administration authorizing the educational commission, which is entirely under the thumb of Macdonald's influence, to provide a course of study for the schools, shows that there is a desperate effort on the part of the supporters of Macdonald, Hagan, Frazier, Leake and Tingley, etc., not only to elect their candidate for superintendent of public instruction, but to have unqualified control of our public school system of some winter purpose. Such control of our public schools has been to do with the inauguration of the so-called "Farmers Program" in North Dakota. Vote "yes" and you will vote for the supervision of our schools by school people and the maintenance of our schools for educational, instead of propaganda purposes.

PRAIRIE GAME ON INCREASE

The prairie chicken or square tailed chicken is increasing in number in North Dakota according to many hunters the sharp tailed grouse, which is native to North Dakota, in some counties. B. E. Jones, who has been in the country much of late says that there will be more prairie chickens of both species in the country at the end of the hunting season in a few days than there were before. The square tailed chicken is said to be better able to take care of itself than the sharp-tailed, which probably accounts for the increase. The tale of Pines promises to become an important producer of iron copper and other ores, as 77 miles

CITY FIREMAN BADLY INJURED

Sandy McDonald, city fireman, was seriously injured yesterday afternoon when he was trampled by a horse. Mr. McDonald was reported resting well in St. Alexius hospital today. He suffered two broken ribs, and an X-ray examination is being made to determine if he suffered further injury. Mr. McDonald was leading his horse out of a shed when the horse became frightened by the noise made by a carpenter working on the shed. Mr. McDonald lay in the line to control the animal stayed with it for half a block. The horse fell on the pavement and crushing him between it and the curb.

PHYSICIANS IN CITY MEETING

The sixth district medical association held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the community room of the public library. Because of the importance of the program an invitation was sent all nurses, druggists, and dentists of the community. Eighty attended the meeting and much interest was taken in the showing of an educational film in connection with the government campaign against venereal disease. The film required an hour for the showing which was given without comment. Dr. W. H. Schlegel read a paper on gastric diseases. This was followed by a general discussion. At the business meeting of the society it was decided to hold district meetings two or three times a year in conjunction with neighboring medical societies, at which time prominent members of the profession might be invited to speak.

FARMERS MAKE DRIVE ON WEBER

Nappoon, N. D., Oct. 13.—Farmers of Logan and McIntosh counties are taking the brunt of the fight that is being made in this legislative district for the retirement of John Weber, Nonpartisan league state senator against whom recall petitions were filed.

The independent forces of this district have placed Jacob Schrenk, a farmer and business man of many years residence as their candidate to succeed Weber. The Socialist leaders of the Nonpartisan league are relying upon their man Hardt to carry the district for them. They have sent a number of outside Socialists into the county and the campaign is one of the most intensive they are conducting at any point in the state.

Farmers are aroused at the tremendously increased tax burden, and declare they'll oust Weber and replace him with an independent state senator.

NEW CLUB ROOMS NICELY DECORATED

The club rooms, to be occupied by the Business and Professional Women's club, adjoining the Commercial club rooms in the Hinckley block, are most attractive in the new scheme of decoration which will be completed tomorrow. The walls and ceiling of buff and mahogany wood finish make a beautiful room. The floor is thoroughly restored and put in perfect condition, and all is in readiness for the furnishing.

It is the plan of the club to furnish the room in a manner substantial and dignified and hope to make of it one that will be a credit to the club and to the city. Since a business and professional women's club is so vitally a part of the social and economic life of the community, no effort will be spared to make the initial effort a success.

The board of directors, at their meeting last night, appointed a committee of three to take up the matter of furnishing the room. They are Miss Henricks Beach, secretary of the Provident Insurance company; Miss Elsie Stark, home demonstration agent, and Miss Mary Buchholz, proprietor of the Buchholz Millinery store.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak and languid, had no energy, and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital, and am feeling fine. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to dozens of my friends and all always recommend it."—Lillian Vance 824 S. 6th St. Carrollton, Ky.

If you have any symptoms about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

GAS COAL HARD TO GET, REPORT OF COMMISSION

City Receives Information on Tests—Municipal Bonds Are Retired

The city commission has been advised by the railroad commission that the Bismarck Gas company has been up against the proposition of obtaining sufficient coal of the right kind for making gas.

The city commission had asked that an inspection be made. The railroad commission said in its answer: "The commission advises that about two weeks ago it made an inspection of the plant of the Bismarck Gas company to ascertain the cause for the unusual amount of sulphur contained in the gas supplied. It found that the company could no longer secure the highhorn lump coal they had previously been using and were compelled to use Fairmount lump, which is ordinarily considered a steam coal. This coal has good gas qualities but is extraordinarily high in sulphur, and consequently the company was having great difficulty in purifying the gas derived from this coal and in removing the sulphur. The commission advised the company what methods to follow in reducing the amount of sulphur in the gas and believed that the condition of the gas has been improved."

In a recent order the gas company was required to install a calorimeter for testing the gas and was required in addition to make daily tests for sulphur. The commission has required the company to transmit the result of these tests since October 1.

Pay Bond Issues.
The city has retired several thousand dollars worth of bonds on the fire hall and city auditorium.

The original issue for the fire hall made in 1911, was $15,000. The city had retired $5,000 of the bonds and with this the $10,000 retired this week, there will be a balance of but $5,000 left on the fire hall. Of the original $45,000 issued for the auditorium, $3,000 is being retired now, making a total of $15,000 retired by the city. The commission has awarded a contract to George White for building a sewer on South Twelfth street, between Sweet and Front streets. The cost will be $37 for a manhole and $2.10 per lineal foot for a 9-inch pipe sewer.

The Ladies' Aid of Episcopal Church will hold a rummage sale at the Parish house, 3rd Street, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 14 and 15.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

(Established 1878)

OFFICIOUS OFFICIALS

Secretary of State Colby has barred from his presence at conferences with newspaper men two representatives of the press at Washington.

These men are barred because they accused Colby of using the conferences with the newspaper men as a means of inspiring the press with views of his own.

This sounds strange in America, dedicated to democracy, freedom and the right of the humblest citizen to criticize the highest official. It recalls an outworn European offense known as "lese majeste." It savors of the time when "the king could do no wrong." It is reminiscent of czars and redolent of kaisers.

If these newspaper men print untruth about Colby, he has his remedy at law. If they print inaccuracies or libel or any other thing that oversteps the bounds lawfully set down on the statutes the remedy is in the courts.

The day of "lese majeste" is done with. Officious officials who think otherwise must be taught.

Undoubtedly, Cincinnati fans insist the Reds would have won anyway.

GIRLS TO WED

Young men on the brink of matrimony are warned against certain types of girls in a pamphlet, "What to Tell Our Grown-Up Sons About Women."

The author, after telling you he knows all there's to be known about the matter under consideration, says you must not marry—

"Heavily-scented girls, gaudily-dressed girls, girls who side up to you, intensely religious girls, obviously modest girls, girls with sloping foreheads and straight, coarse hair, girls who drink wine."

This sort of leaves you up in the air, doesn't it? You get that all dressed-up-and-no-place-to-go feeling? You begin to wonder where in the world all those happily married fellows got their wives. You think all the fish in the matrimonial seas have been caught—all the desirable ones. You get discouraged.

And just about that time she comes along. You forget about the perfume the gaudy dress, the sidling habit, the obviously modest, and don't even see the sloping forehead, nor realize the artistic side of her, and presto, quick! You're married!

So much for warnings. Why, man alive; they've been warning poor weak man since the time of Eve! They'll be warning your great-grandson, and like as not, he'll go and do just as you do.

There are 3500 students at Yale; they can't accuse that many of being "exclusive."

HALLOWE'EN

Young America believes that the night of October 31 was especially created for his benefit. He figures that Halloween is the time when he calls playful pranks, but which victims of his define as rowdiness. Victims fail to see the sport in hunting up the missing gate next morning.

They hardly see where the fun comes in when they have to readjust overturned outbuildings. Nor is it sport when they visit their denuded cabbage patches.

It didn't used to be that way. The small boy has taken upon himself the job of changing completely the kindly old customs of a goneby time. Yet among many people the innocent games and pastimes of the old Halloween still prevail, happily, and one may on that evening, with due respect for imagination, expect to receive a visit from the ghosts and goblins, the witches and their clan. The harmless pranks of the dancing elves are to be expected. The glorious grin of old pumpkin face, candle-light, is always a delight—much better than battered doors and missing gates.

November 1 is All Saints' Day, set off in ages past for a celebration of the minor saints. "Holy evening," of course, is just the night before the vigil of all Halls. It was in the year 610 that a pope of Rome ordered that the heathen Pantheon should be converted into Christian church, and dedicated to the honor of all martyrs. The first festival was held in May, but, 224 years later, the date of the celebration was changed to Nov. 1, All Saints' Day, as we know it now.

But, boys, there wasn't anything in the book or the order that justifies going on a rampage the night before, nor in putting Neighbor Jones' auto on top of the blacksmith shop. Be good, for the police will get you if you don't watch out.

HAS FRAZIER FORGOTTEN

"We voted for terminal elevators twice, but the legislature of the old standpatters would do nothing."—Gov. Frazier in La Moure speech Monday, Oct. 4.

A standpat senate and a league house four years ago passed a terminal elevator bill appropriating $300,000 for that purpose.

Gov. Frazier vetoed that bill written in a standpat senate and passed by a nonpartisan league house.

Why is he not honest with his audience on this issue? The senate journal will show to any doubters just where Frazier stood on a terminal elevator four years ago.

The ex-kaiser still signs himself "I. R.," which in this case means In Retirement.

The Poles have captured Pinsk, and this is the first intimation that there is a rhyme for Minsk.

Now that President Wilson has entered the League of Nations fight, it is perfectly proper for the Republicans to throw the search-light on the President's numerous sayings.

It is confessed by the Democrats that while Governor Cox is the candidate, President Wilson is the man behind the scenes controlling the action of the candidate for President.

Warren G. Harding will be fifty-five years of age on Election Day. He is old enough to know and young enough to lead. His rival has not yet reached even the years of discretion.

The Democrats seem to depend more upon quarrels and divisions in the Republican camp than upon their own ability to win the confidence of the voters. Fortunately there are no quarrels or divisions.

GOVERNOR FRAZIER

This world would be a much pleasanter place in which to live if only men would practice the simple art of being fair. And certainly one has a right to expect that the chief executive of a commonwealth who goes out on the stump to give the people an account of his stewardship and to discuss political issues before them, will do so in a spirit of candor and with a decent regard for the common amenities of life.

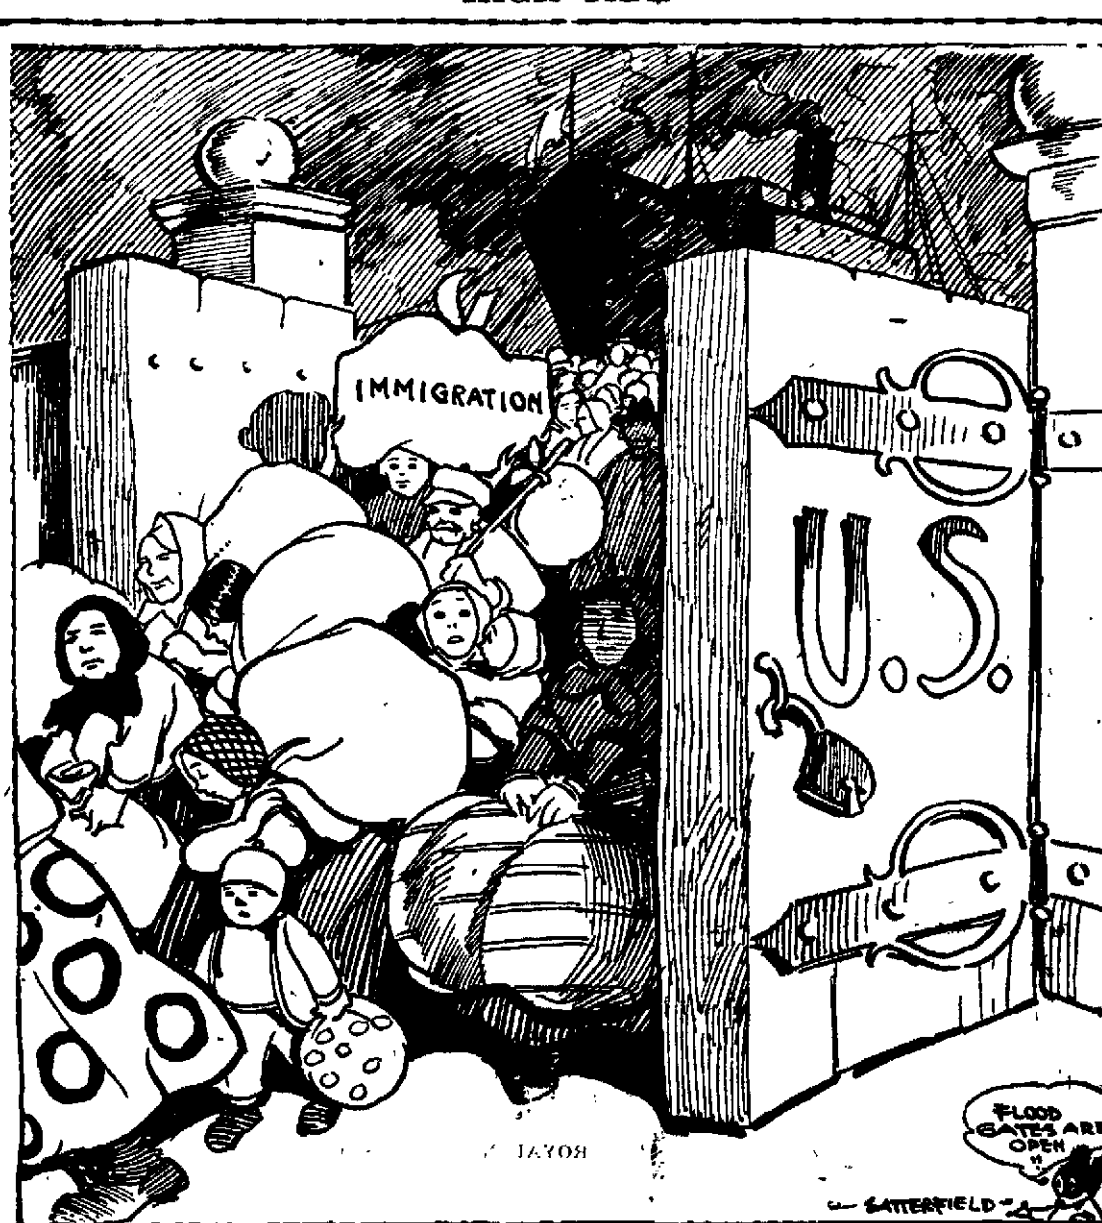

At the close of his address in LaMoure Monday afternoon, Governor Frazier invited any and all who might care to do so to ask questions. Whereupon a respected citizen of this city submitted the following inquiry: "Do you believe, Governor, that the bankers of North Dakota are antagonistic to the welfare of the farmers of this state?" And the Governor treated the question as if it were a huge joke. With a poorly disguised sneer he replied that ninety per cent of the bankers of North Dakota were opposing the Nonpartisan league, or "fighting the farmers."

That was pretty cheap politics. For since when has it come about in this country that a mere difference of opinion in politics, religion or economics argues that one side is "fighting" the other and is trying to bring about its destruction. Suppose that Senator Harding, republican candidate for president of the United States, should go about the country whining that everyone whose opinion differed from his was fighting the government? How many would support a man of that calibre?

The Chronicle does not now believe and never has believed that Governor Frazier is a big enough man for the job he is trying to fill—and our conviction has been greatly strengthened since hearing his speech in LaMoure Monday. We believe that the Governor is a man of splendid morals and excellent intention, and that within very narrow limits he is not wanting in courage. But he seems never to have grasped the fact that in his official capacity he is governor of North Dakota and not merely a servant of the Nonpartisan league or a handy man for Mr. Townley and Mr. Lemke to have around the state house.

It was humiliating to have the governor of our state repeat the silly charge that the farmers are accused by the so-called enemies of the league with being Bolsheviks and free-lovers. That was an appeal to the baser passions—an incitement to hatred and strife, of which heaven knows we have more than enough in this state! The Governor certainly knows that no person whose opinion is of the slightest consequence to anybody has ever accused the farmers of being Bolsheviks or free-lovers or anything of the sort. It is true that there are a few irresponsible scoundrels in the state who go about making silly remarks; but The Chronicle most earnestly protests against the Governor making—or trying to make—political capital of this nonsense. The issues in North Dakota are big enough and serious enough to demand the best thought of all of its people; and that means that no room is left for chicanery and playing to the galleries.—LaMoure Chronicle.

HIGH TIDE

The Experiences Of Hiram Wise

INTRODUCTION
"Hiram Wise" is a farmer of the old school who believes in the "emancipation of humanity." Being a forward looking man, he is one of the first to join the Nonpartisan league when its organizers visited his community. While his varied experiences are told in story form, practically every one of them has been duplicated in real life.

"Bob" speech has been written in dialect in order to carry out the general idea. It is "Hiram" who is doing the talking, telling the reader of his experiences with the Nonpartisan league in emancipating North Dakota.

Chapter V.

He Invests In A Store

Havin' told us the business men were all our enemies the next thing wuz to get the farmers all interested in ownin' a store, so the League sent out a slick talkin' feller to tell us of the money we could save by ownin' our own store. His scheme wuz fer each farmer to donate $100 an' then he could get his groceries at cost plus 10 per cent, which would pay the running expenses of the store. He told us that the tomatoes Jim Blake sold fer 20 cents a can only cost 7 cents wholesale an' he showed us where we would be able to save 50 per cent of our grocery bill every year, an' as he pointed out we would not be feedin' our enemies (the business men) so about 25 of us farmers gave him a check an' he promised to put up a store the middle of September.

It wuz July then, one day I went down to Henroon Center an' askt 'em to put up a little shack an' I asked what it wuz. "Why," said one of the fellers who wuz doin' the buildin', "that's your store, don't you remember about givin' that feller 100 dollars last summer, an' he went all over the county gettin' subscriptions. They tell me he must have got ten or fifteen thousand dollars, so now you'll get your store." Wal, sir, I didn't know just what to say. That shack wuzn't no bigger 'an my smoke house, an' I didn't see how they could put a full line of groceries in it to say nothin' of the machines an' other stuff the feller said they would carry later on.

Finally, I heard our store wuz open fer business, so Mary Ann give me a list of things she wanted an' had been savin' up fer this occasion.

When I went in I didn't see much but a lot of canned stuff, so I sez to the clerk, "Can you fill this order fer me?" He looked at it an' said, "no, we only have the goods you see on hand," so I said, "wal, give me about a dozen of everything you've got in the canned fruit line, also the same o' tomatoes."

"All right," he said so he fixed 'em up in a box an' I loaded up an' started home.

FORMER KING OF BULGARIA CHEATS TAXPAYER BY SPENDING HIS MONEY

ed fer home. Mary Ann thought she'd have a can o' peaches fer supper so I opened them up an' seen right away why they could be sold fer so much less 'an our grocers. Little bits o' dried up runts an' sour as vinegar, not a mite o' sugar on 'em. Everything turned out the same way. The tomatoes wuz mostly seeds, skin an' water.

What we paid fer wuz the cans—the inside wuzn't worth havin'. An' it never got any better either, we couldn't get what we wanted an' what we did get wuzn't fit to eat, so after wranglin' about it an' fusin' with the guy who handled the store we finally decided to sell the whole blame shootin' match. But right then we found out something we hadn't known before. The store wuzn't ours, we only had bought the right to trade at the store. When we found out about this we all got to talkin' at once, an' the long an' short o' it wuz the sheriff come over an' locked up the store an' we are still waitin' fer a settlement.

Fearing Inroads on Fortune, He Leads Jovial Existence and is Great Entertainer.

Berlin, Sept. 23.—Former King Ferdinand of Bulgaria, fearing the inroads of the tax-gatherer, is enjoying his wealth by spending it.
At Mergentheim, which he is visiting for the sake of the magnesia springs, he leads a jovial and uncorrupted existence in striking contrast to the cloistered seclusion of the former German emperor at Amerongen.
Under the name of Count von Miranney, says a writer in the weekly Ueberland, Ferdinand is residing at the Kurhaus together with his suite composed of chaplain, chamberlain, chauffeur, footman, valet and private secretary. His lavish expenditures have made him popular in the town and surrounding country, where the villas are seen in him an emblem of the "good old times" and greet him with cheers as he drives past in an automobile.

The fact that the British government has released the former king's sequestered property is known to all and has cheered for him the reputation, frequently embarrassing, of being fabulously rich. His chief purchases are books, bronzes, pictures and jewels. His secretary has a difficult task in keeping on the host of people who want private audiences on business. A chimney sweep, for instance, has discovered the secret of turning chimney smoke into high class boot polish and wants King Ferdinand to advance him 3,000 marks for the exploitation of the invention.
Someone also has invented an ever-burning match and he wants money from the king to convert this theory into practice.
Much trouble has finally retired from business. Other aspirants to munificence avoid the economically-minded secretary and waylay Ferdinand on his way to motor excursions.

A man whose ambition in life was to shake hands with royalty received one day a card ostensibly from the Count von Miranney inviting him to an audience. Overjoyed, he hurried to the Kurhaus in frockcoat and tall hat. The victim of the hoax did not obtain the longed for audience, but instead four new 50-mark notes which Ferdinand sent out to him as consolation money.

PEOPLE'S FORUM
Editor of the Tribune:
At this time, when every good citizen is anxious for the welfare, redemption, and preservation of our state from those who read the Centennial address of Judge Story, wherein he said, "Our Government is mild. The press is free. Religion is free. Knowledge reaches or may reach every home. What fairer prospects of success could be presented? What means more adequate to accomplish the sublime end? What more is necessary than for the people to preserve what they themselves have created? I call upon you, fathers, by the shades of which repose in this precious soil, to resist every encroachment upon your liberties, resist every attempt to fetter your consciences, or smother your public schools, or extinguish your system of public instruction."

I call upon you, mothers, that which never fails in woman, the love of your offspring, teach them, as they climb your knees, or lean on your bosom at the altar, as with their baptismal vows to be true to their country, and never to forget or forsake her.

It is now up to the mothers, wives and daughters of North Dakota to redeem their beloved state from the corruption that destroyed other states in days gone by. Many a happy republic fell by corruption at

The medicine helped me right from the start and I have been gaining ground ever since. ## SUPREME COURT

'FROM WARD COUNTY
George Kams, Plaintiff and Respondent, vs. William G. McAdon, Director General of Railroads, Defendant and Appellant.

Syllabus: This is a personal injury suit in which the plaintiff, an employee of the defendant, received a verdict for $1200. Working under the directions of defendant's foreman, the plaintiff and his co-workers were piling up heavy water soaked railroad ties. While lifting a tie to the height of five feet one end slipped from the hand of the co-worker and fell to the ground. The fall jarred the tie from the hands of the plaintiff and it fell against him and severely bruised his foot. The plaintiff filed a suit for damages and the defendant had provided skids on which to slide them up a gradual incline. Obviously there was a safe and easy way of doing the work, and hence defendant should not have ordered or permitted the doing of it in a way that was onerous and dangerous.

Appeal from the District court of Ward county; Hon. Frank E. Plak, Judge.

Affirmed. Opinion of the court by Robinson, J. Concurs Birdzell and Grace, J. concurs specially.

FROM BURLEIGH COUNTY
John Fechner, Plaintiff and Appellant, vs. M. B. Finseth, Defendant and Respondent.

Syllabus: (1) A written contract with reference to the sale and purchase of a certain tract of land described in it, and which is entitled an EARNEST MONEY CONTRACT OF SALE, examined and held to be a contract, in fact, for the sale and purchase of the land, and, in nature and effect, a contract for deed.
(2) The action was one to recover damages for breach of contract. Plaintiff had verdict for $135. The setting aside of the verdict of the jury by the court, and granting judgment for costs for the defendant notwithstanding the verdict, and for a dismissal of the action, for reasons stated in the opinion, are held to be reversible error.
(3) The written contract being silent on the question of possession, for the reasons and under the authority cited in the opinion, oral testimony with reference thereto was properly received.

Appeal from a judgment of the District court of Burleigh county; W. L. Nuecoile, Judge.

EVENTS AND GOSSIP FOR THE FANS

PUBLIC SQUARE CELEBRATION IS CLEVELAND PLAN

Fans Jubilant After 3 to 0 Victory in Final World Series Game

SWARM OVER THE FIELD

Cleveland, Oct. 13.—With the baseball championship resting in Cleveland today as a result of the Indians' victory over the Dodgers in the seventh game of the world series yesterday afternoon making the count 5 to 2, local fans were planning a great celebration. A reception in the public square down town is planned.

Sport writers and baseball experts who saw the series, agreed that the victory was well-earned. Cleveland was picked to win before the series as having the superior team, and the players proved it all through the games, though Brooklyn made a hard fight.

In shutting out the Nationals in the final clash, the Indians, led by Manager Tris Speaker, rose to playing heights which bore out the complete confidence of the club backers and fans in their ability to prove their right to wear the baseball crown of the universe. They reached the heights of Burleigh Grimes, the National league star deliverer of this type of pitching for seven solid hits clinched the game before the half way mark, as it ultimately proved, and topped the play with several pieces of baseball strategy that demonstrated the possession of mental alertness which marks the difference between a keen thinking and a mechanically playing baseball club.

That these outstanding features were appreciated by the Cleveland followers of the club and the middle-western section of the country generally has been apparent since the day the team returned from Brooklyn. But the demonstration which marked the final put-out of Myers and clinched the championship for the Indians surpassed any similar scene in several seasons. Thousands of men, boys and women poured out of the theaters and stands and simply engulfed the victorious players like a human avalanche. It was a continuous battle for the members of the team in their march toward the dugout, each step being taken slowly with scores of fans endeavoring to shake their hands or pat them on the back.

Hurries to Mother
Tris Speaker sensing the coming outburst of enthusiasm made a dash from center field toward the grand stand where his mother and other relatives occupied a lower tier box.

His progress was slow but once he reached the rail he vaulted over the iron front and into the mothers' arms like a small school boy. The scene was so unusual that for a moment there was a complete cessation of the cheering, which, however broke out with treble vigor when Mrs. Speaker hugged, patted and kissed her son and the latter responded in a manner which indicated that he regarded his mother's approval and petting far above any other reward that might come to him as a result of the victory of his team in winning the greatest honor that can come to a professional ball player.

When Speaker finally left his mother's side and started for the clubhouse he was besieged by requests to shake hands and autograph programs and photographs. When he finally disappeared into the passageway of dressing quarters the crowd swayed back to the Speaker box where they cheered and demanded a speech from the mother of the popular player manager. Mrs. Speaker met the demands of the fans by waving her hand and was soon joined by Owner James C. Quinn of the club, who addressed the throngs for her. During the height of the demonstration Charles Ebbets of the Brooklyn club, crossed the field and congratulated the executive of the winning team. Then the throngs slowly dispersed to dwell on their future the successful climax of Cleveland's 40-year battle for a major league pennant and a world's series banner.

City Plans Reception
That the citizens of Cleveland propose to properly honor the occasion was shown by a conference which took place between Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald and prominent business men of the city almost before the final cheers had died away. It was tentatively decided to hold a public reception and welcome for the players of the team in the public square of the city within the next day or two at which the populace will be invited to show in a collective and comprehensive manner their appreciation of the honors which the players of the team have brought to Cleveland. It takes the preliminary trend shown in rewarding the stars of the series to date it is quite likely that every member of the club will have automobiles, watches, medals and other souvenirs of their conquest sufficient to fill several storehouses before the fans permit them to retire to a well earned season of inactivity.

HE TURNED THE TRICK

TRIS SPEAKER

Tristram Speaker, center fielder, manager and captain of the Cleveland Indians, is given greatest credit for Cleveland's win of the world series. He is the second hitter in the American league, perhaps the greatest outfielder, and has showed wisdom as manager and captain.

After the game it was announced by the National commission that the paid attendance had been 27,525 and the gate receipts $83,900. It was the largest attendance and receipts of any of the seven games.

3 to 0 Final
The victory was chiefly engineered by Stanley Coveleskie the spit-ball hurler of the local team who has proved to be a pitcher of remarkable skill and endurance during the series. Backed by an outlight defense on the part of his team mates at the critical moments of the game, the spitballer put the Dodgers down with five hits. But two Brooklyn players reached second base during their nine sessions at bat and but five of the invaders were left on the bases all told.

Coveleskie's feat in winning three of the five games necessary to clinch the championship for Cleveland will go down as one of the outstanding features of world's series history and one of the most prominent and praiseworthy factors in a struggle which has furnished more stirring incidents than any similar series in years.

Two Runs in Three Games
The Brooklyn hitters accumulated but two runs off the moistened slant of Coveleskie in 27 innings in which he outfigured on the hitting mound. He let the Dodgers down with one run in the first game at Brooklyn on Oct. 5, allowed them a second tally on Saturday and shut them out yesterday. It is doubtful if a more masterly exhibition of pitching has been flashed before the fans in any world series since 1903 when Christy Mathewson, then at the zenith of his twirling career with the New York Giants, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics in three games.

Great as must be the credit accorded Coveleskie for the remarkable feat in coming back after but two days of rest and pitching his best game of the series, the general offensive and defensive work of the other members of the Cleveland club cannot be dimmed by the individual glory of their star box man. The Indians as a team grew more impressive as the series progressed and their feat in winning four straight games from Brooklyn after getting away to an indifferent start stamps the club as one deserving of all the support and enthusiasm which their efforts have evoked in this section.

Coveleskie pitched only 90 times in the nine innings while Grimes and Mammoux, the Brooklyn twirlers, were forced to throw 135 times. Only 21 of Coveleskie's efforts were called strikes and three fouls. He retired 12 men on flies and 16 out easy grounders. Five hits were made only Brooklyn. Coveleskie pitched only four times in the fourth inning. The two Brooklyn pitchers went over more strikes than Coveleskie.

Together in eight innings, they pitched 61 balls, 35 strikes, 14 foul strikes, seven fouls, put out 11 men on flies, 10 on rollers and allowed seven hits.

Grimes' record of seven innings was 47 balls, 31 strikes, 12 foul strikes, four fouls, nine men out on flies and 10 on ground balls and seven hits. Mammoux threw four balls four strikes two foul strikes, three fouls, retired two men on flies, none on grounders, and allowed no hits. He fanned one.

RUBE MARQUARD IS 'THROUGH'

Cleveland, Oct. 12.—President Charles Ebbets of the Brooklyn National league club last night said that Rube Marquard, pitcher who was fined $1 and costs for violating the exhibition ticket ordinance would never play with Brooklyn again. "I'm through with him," Ebbets said. "He hasn't been released, however, and if any one else wants him they can have him. But Marquard will never again put on a Brooklyn uniform."

"H AND H" COMBINATION FORMED BY HARVARD LOOKS DANGEROUS

A. E. A. Staff Special
Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 12.—Two players on this year's Harvard team are expected to sensationalize their way into greater fame than they have yet achieved and perhaps make Eddie Cassius or Charles Brickley of themselves. They are Captain Horween and Dick Humphrey.

Horween is already considered one of the greatest offensive players of years and it is probable that this year will see him at the zenith of his prowess. For he is in the greatest physical condition a football man could hope to attain.

Hard as nails heavier than ever and with muscles like steel, he has returned this fall to try and lead Harvard to victory in every game it plays in. And he are those who believe he will succeed.

Why Increased Telephone Rates are Necessary

Adequate revenues must be obtained from the operation of our business if we are to continue to maintain our properties and be able to attract new money to meet the requirements of the public in this state.

As explained in our last advertisement, our annual revenues in this state are now $389,271 and our expenses $340,563. This leaves $48,708 net revenue to pay interest and dividends on our investment of $1,502,865, or less than 3.1-2 per cent annually.

The additional revenue which will be obtained from the proposed new rates, will only enable this Company to earn 8 per cent annually on its investment in this state.

During the next five years this Company must secure $600,000 new money from investors in order to meet the demands of the public for telephone service in North Dakota.

And the price we must pay for the use of money, like the price of everything else, is considerably higher than in the past. Money cannot be secured under present conditions for less than approximately 9 per cent annually.

Our next advertisement will show the new rates we are proposing to establish in this exchange.

American light heavyweight title, in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout. Carpentier, who holds the light heavyweight championship of Europe, thus became the world's title holder in the heavy division.

Early in 1918, Dempsey, who won the world's heavyweight championship, knocked out Levinsky in three rounds in Philadelphia. The night Carpentier failed to equal Dempsey's time in finishing Levinsky, but he is the only one outside of the champion who has knocked out Levinsky since the latter became prominent as a fighter.

By his victory over Levinsky, Carpentier has earned the right to meet Dempsey for the world's championship. Levinsky was in splendid condition, and so was Carpentier. From the middle of the first round, when the Frenchman began to cut loose, the outcome was inevitable. His blows were well delivered and effective, while Levinsky's plucky returns were too light to do much damage. Twice in the second round Carpentier sent Levinsky to the floor with right and left crosses.

Slows Up in Third
During the third session, Carpentier slowed up a bit and seemed uncertain as to what his next move should be. When he did start, however, he used both hands powerfully, and Levinsky, who always was credited with being able to absorb a lot of punishment, was visibly weakening.

In the final round, Carpentier simply battered Levinsky into submission, and when the bell tolled at the end of the fight, the Frenchman was unable to get up, while Referee Little counted him out. Levinsky was severely punished, while Carpentier did not show a mark when he left the ring. Carpentier's weight was announced as 170 pounds and Levinsky's 165. In the preliminary bouts "Babe" Asher, St. Louis bantamweight, had a shade over "Kewpie" Callender of Minneapolis, in six rounds. Frankie Burns, the veteran Los Angeles featherweight outfighter and severely punished Patay Johnson of Boston in every one of the six rounds. "Kid" Lewis, who claims to hold the British welterweight title, outfigured Marcel Thomas, French welterweight champion, in six rounds. Lewis weighed 147 and Thomas 149. It was Lewis' fight nearly all the way and Thomas was badly punished.

Fight by Rounds
First round—Carpentier led a left and right, landing lightly. Levinsky sent a left and right to the body at once. Carpentier landed a hard right on the forehead and blocked a right cleanly. Carpentier sent a right and left to the body. Levinsky countered with a right to the head and followed with left and right to the paw, sending Levinsky down in his corner for a count of eight. Again with stiff lefts and right swings to the head, Carpentier sent Levinsky down for another count of eight. Levinsky was "fuzzy" but weathered out the round.

Then he drove his right to the head and followed with left and right to the paw, sending Levinsky down in his corner for a count of eight. Again with stiff lefts and right swings to the head, Carpentier sent Levinsky down for another count of eight. Levinsky was "fuzzy" but weathered out the round.
